CASSINI LEAVES WASHINGTON.

Russia's First Ambassador to United States Starts for Europe.

Washington, July 10.—Count Cassini, Russia's first ambassador to the United States, after seven years here, left Sunday for New York, whence he sails Tuesday for Europe and will later go to his new post at Madrid. Gathered at the station to bid him good speed was nearly every diplomat here and a number of the ambassador's personal friends. Shortly before the train left Baron de Rosen reached the station and was among the last to say good bye.

Count Cassini was frank in his expression of regret in leaving his friends here and took occasion to reiterate to them the kindly feeling he had cherished in the country which had been his home for the past seven years.

GOES BACK TO RUSSIA

ADMIRAL KRUGER TAKES POSSESSION OF THE BATTLESHIP KNIAZ POTEMKINE.

ROUMANIA AVOIDS TROUBLE

WILLINGLY DELIVERS THE SURRENDERED SHIP TO RUSSIAN COMMANDER.

Kustenji, Roumania, July 10.—Admiral Kruger Sunday afternoon boarded and took possession of the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine, King Charles of Roumania having sent instructions to the commander of the Roumanian squadron that the vessel be delivered to the Russian authorities without raising difficulties.

The torpedo boat which accompanied the Kniaz Potemkine, however, left for Odessa without surrendering, declaring that she had not mutinied, but that the Kniaz Potemkine had forced her to follow.

Admiral Kruger arrived with his squadron Sunday morning and after exchanging the customary salutes intimated that he had come to arrange for the transfer of the Kniaz Potemkine. Admiral Kostenski, commander of the Roumanian squadron, boarded the Russian battleship Tchesme and informed Admiral Kruger that King Charles had ordered him to turn the vessel over to the Russian admiral. The formalities of the transfer were completed Sunday afternoon and Admiral Kruger boarded the Kniaz Potemkine.

The Associated Press representative inspected the Kniaz Potemkine after the withdrawal of the Roumanian guard.

Despite the attempt to get the ship in shipshape, everything on board the battleship was still in a state of wild disorder. The officers' cabins were stripped of everything of any value and bloodstains were everywhere. There was sufficient ammunition on board the Kniaz Potemkine to have enabled the mutineers to make a desperate resistance.

It is said that during the past few days the vessel was navigated by two engineers and an officer with revolvers at their heads.

Sailors Wished to Surrender.

All the sailors wished to surrender with the exception of Matuschenko, the leader of the mutiny, who resisted for some time and wanted to blow up the ship.

Seven officers were prisoners aboard the Kniaz Potemkine. They were in a pitiable condition from ill treatment. They declare that Matuschenko himself killed ten officers of the battleship. All the papers and books belonging to the vessel were destroyed. It appears that the decision to surrender the Kniaz Potemkine was made when it became evident that no other vessel would join in the mutiny. The crew of the battleship seemed to be unaware of the surrender of the Georgi Pobiedonosetz and expected that she also was coming to Kustenji to capitulate to Roumania.

Twenty married sailors from the Kniaz Potemkine have applied to the Russian counsel here to be sent back to Russia.

The crew of torpedo boat No. 267 were given half an hour in which to surrender or leave port.

A considerable number of the crew of the Kniaz Potemkine surrendered to the Russian squadron, alleging that they had acted under compulsion. The coal supply of the mutinous battleship was nearly exhausted, but there was ample food on board.

A Russian priest after the transfer, held a service of purification on board the Kniaz Potemkine, sprinkling the vessel and her flags with holy water.

Admiral Kruger's squadron, which brought a crew for the Kniaz Potemkine, sailed with her for Russia Sunday evening.

OVER SOIL OF RUSSIA

JAPANESE FLAG IS HOISTED FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE WAR BEGAN.

St. Petersburg, July 10.—With the Japanese flag hoisted for the first time on Russian soil after eighteen months of war the importance of the landing on the island of Sakhalin is generally admitted both in newspaper comment and in government circles. Complete occupation of the island is regarded as a foregone conclusion. The Novoe Vremya voices the general sentiment in holding that control of Sakhalin puts a powerful lever in the possession of Japanese diplomacy, which finally has something tangible in its hands to throw upon the scales with the sword in the coming conference.

There is a divergency of opinion with regard to the effect it will have upon the negotiations at Washington, some of the irreconcilables declaring that it makes peace at the present juncture more impossible than before, as Japan will be able to demand the cession of the island and heavy indemnity as well, at which terms of peace will be too costly, but the prevalent view is that Japan has now in her hands enough trumps to take the game.

The attack on the island certainly disappoints one of the peace advocates, who has been suggesting that its voluntary cession might be an offset with Port Arthur and the Chinese railway against the payment of a large part or all of a money indemnity.

No further reports of the landing operations have been received.

M. Muraviev, the Russian ambassador at Rome and one of the peace plenipotentiaries, has arrived in St. Petersburg and called upon Foreign Minister Lamsdorff Sunday. His sailing arrangements have not been perfected as they are dependent upon the date of his audience with the emperor, which will probably take place Tuesday. His suite has been completed by the selection of two secretaries from the foreign office.

The Novoe Vremya joins in the press chorus against M. Muraviev, saying it is hard to tell how good a diplomat he will prove, as he certainly was not a success at The Hague.

The paper says that Baron Rosen, the other plenipotentiary, on the contrary, is a skilful diplomatist and has been socially successful.

JAPAN OPPOSES THE IDEA.

Does Not Want China Represented at Peace Conference.

Washington, July 10.—China's request to be represented in the Washington conference on the ground that she is vitally interested in its proceedings has been received by the president and informally transmitted to the belligerents. Whether the president has received the formal replies cannot be learned, but it can be stated that while Russia is inclined to favor the suggestion, Japan would not consent to it. Japan has already made public her assurance that Manchuria is to be restored to China. That is one of the principles for which she says she has been fighting. Japan has announced herself as fully capable of executing this promise without the assistance of China and in view of China's inability before the war to cope with Russia in Manchuria, the Japanese government is unable to see what possible services a Chinese representative would be in the Washington conference. Moreover, Japan has all along taken the position that when peace negotiations were begun they would be conducted directly with Russia. It is altogether unlikely that the Washington government will press the claim of China and the official view here fails to sympathize with the idea.

The past week has seen few developments in the plans for the negotiations. Negotiations for an armistice are not expected to be concluded until after the plenipotentiaries meet. It is pointed out again that the beginning of the rainy season in the war zone removes the necessity for the immediate signing of an armistice. Little doubt is felt, however, that this will be the first subject discussed by the plenipotentiaries and probably their initial act will be the signing of a protocol providing for the cessation of hostilities for a limited period.

AWAITS REPORT FROM KRUGER.

Russian Government Will Then Take Action Regarding Mutineers.

St. Petersburg, July 10.—The government is awaiting a report from Admiral Kruger before making representations to the Roumanian government for the return of the mutineers of the Kniaz Potemkine. It was stated at the foreign office Sunday that no official information of the attitude of the Roumanian government towards the mutineers has been received.

A dispatch from Theodosia says that during a parade of the Volna regiment a shot was fired from the ranks at the colonel, but missed him. The shot was a signal for an outbreak, which was quelled after an officer and a private had been severely wounded. The trouble evidently was a reflex of the mutiny on the Kniaz Potemkine.

EIGHT MEN BLOWN UP

ALL INSTANTLY KILLED BY THE PREMATURE EXPLOSION OF ROCK POWDER.

BODIES TERRIBLY MANGLED

PARTICLES OF FLESH SCATTERED MANY YARDS FROM SCENE OF EXPLOSION.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 10.—Eight men were blown to pieces and two others were injured by the premature explosion of a big blast of rock powder on the Pennsylvania railroad improvements near New Cumberland at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The accident occurred directly across the Susquehanna river from the scene of the Pennsylvania railroad wreck on May 11, in which twenty-three persons were killed.

All the victims of Sunday's accident were employees of P. S. Kerbaugh & Co., incorporated, contractors, who are building the double tracks for the Pennsylvania railroad to connect with the Enola yards. The bodies of the men were terribly mangled and particles of flesh and bone were scattered for a distance of 200 yards from the scene of the explosion.

The dead are: James Wiseman, aged fifty, dynamite boss, Buffalo, N. Y.; Arthur Green, colored, twenty-eight years old, Harrisburg; Frank Mulach, a Slav, forty-three years old; Robert Thompson, colored, twenty-five years old; three Italians and one Slav, known only by numbers.

The injured are: William Reed, colored, and G. C. Miller, fifty-eight years old, of Idaville.

No trace of the two colored men who were killed can be found and it is supposed their bodies were blown into the river, which is being dragged.

An inquest was held Sunday afternoon by Squire Coble of Lemoyne. The jury rendered a verdict of premature explosion from an unknown cause and no blame attached to the contractors.

All the killed and injured were laborers aside from Wiseman, whose body was terribly mangled. What could be found of it was identified by the fact that he dyed his hair. His scalp and a portion of his head was found on a hill 200 yards from the blast.

The explosion shook the country for miles around and broke many windows in Harrisburg and towns across the river. Twelve hundred and fifty pounds of rock powder had been unloaded just before the explosion, but it was not disturbed.

NINE PERSONS INJURED.

Wagon Struck by a Street Car at Detroit, Mich.

Detroit, July 10.—Nine persons were injured, one of them fatally, Sunday evening at the corner of Fort and Hastings street when a Trumbull avenue car crashed into a wagonload of people returning from a drive about Belle Isle park.

The wagon was squarely on the track when the car struck it, and was demolished. The occupants were hurled in every direction. The injured are:

Joseph Schwartz, Toledo, fatally hurt; Bennett Grinnice, Toledo; Minnie Rothman, Detroit, serious condition; Morris Adler, Mrs. Morris Adler, Annie Adler, Jacob Adler, Moses Rothman and Hiram Rothman.

Schwartz and Grinnice with their wives came from Toledo Friday to visit the Rothman family.

DEED OF A MANIAC.

Cuts His Cousin's Throat and Ends His Own Life.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 10.—James J. Farrell of Plymouth, accompanied by his two children, went over the mountain Sunday to visit a cousin. Another cousin, John Lee, who had been an inmate of an insane asylum, but recently discharged as cured, without warning rushed at the children with a razor, but they succeeded in getting away. Lee discovered Farrell lying on the grass in the shade some distance away. He sprang upon him and cut his throat. He then cut his own throat. Both men died instantly.

International Socialists in Session.

Constance, Grand Duchy of Baden, July 10.—The International Socialist congress opened here Sunday. The Baden government had forbidden speeches by foreign members because they refused to ignore German politics. The conference adjourned to the neighboring Swiss town of Kreuzlingen, so as to enable the foreigners to speak.

Passenger Train Derailed.

Herman, Minn., July 10.—A passenger train left the track while running at the rate of fifty miles an hour at Moose Island, five miles south of here, in the evening. All the cars left the track. One woman and two men were injured, none fatally. It is supposed spreading rails caused the accident.

Two Brothers Drowned.

Memphis, Mich., July 10.—Orville Glassford, aged twenty-one years, and his brother Leed Glassford, aged sixteen, were drowned Sunday in the Belle river while swimming.

RIOTING IN NEW YORK

TWO PERSONS SHOT IN A CLASH BETWEEN WHITES AND NEGROES.

New York, July 10.—Two persons were shot, one probably fatally, in a fight between mobs of whites and negroes in West Sixteenth street Sunday. The trouble began when Henry Hart, a colored man, was attacked in the street by a number of white youths who accused him of interfering with a ball game. Hart fled, pursued by a mob of whites hurling stones, rocks and other missiles, and reached the tenement house in which he lived and got a revolver, while his pursuers made efforts to break into the building. Having armed himself Hart ran down stairs and began firing into the crowd, one of his shots striking James Hunter in the side. At this moment Policeman John Loyer ran into the hall and arrested Hart after the latter had fired at him twice. As Loyer brought his prisoner out a swarm of negroes, armed with pistols, clubs, razors and other weapons, poured out of the tenement bent on a rescue. The policeman's helmet was smashed and he was knocked down and kicked, but he kept a firm grip on his prisoner and finally succeeded in getting his back against a wall, where he stood off his assailants.

By this time the whites had been reinforced to the number of several hundred and the negroes broke and fled in every direction. A shot fired from a negro tenement struck Mrs. Mary Donohue, who was attempting to lead a child out of the tenement, in the head, inflicting a probably fatal wound. The police broke into the house and arrested Albert Middleton, who is supposed to have fired the shot, and five other negroes.

In spite of the presence of a large body of police reserves, desultory fighting between whites and blacks continued until a sudden downpour of rain scattered the combatants.

Two Boys Drowned.

Dover, Del., July 10.—Frank Hall, aged twelve, and Charles Rice, eleven years of age, the sons of farmers, living near Cowgill, six miles from here, were drowned Sunday while bathing in Simon's creek.

The Record in Brainerd Is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ailment and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently. Brainerd citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

James Parker, carpenter, of 124 N. E. 2nd Ave., Brainerd, Minn., says: "Every winter since I had the grippe I was unable to shake off its effects. My back commenced to pain me across the kidneys with a numb sort of aching which I felt always over the same spot, even when lying in bed. I was also troubled with headache which I think arose from my kidneys. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. Since then I have been in much better health, have no more attacks of headache, no more backache and I regard it as quite wonderful that any remedy could bring about such a change."

On October 18, 1904, six years after Mr. Parker made the above statement, the testimony was confirmed by Mrs. Parker, she said: "Mr. Parker's statement was true in every particular, and we both feel that Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to cure every form of kidney trouble. We are always glad to advise sufferers to go to H. P. Dunn & Co.'s drug store for Doan's Kidney Pills and give them a trial."

THE CRUEL PIANO.

Juvenile Sacrifices That Are Offered Up to the Instrument.

My landlady's little boy, separated from me only by a thin lath partition of a wall, is playing five finger exercises in halting rhythm and with innumerable false notes. The instrument is one in which the flight of years has left a tone like a discontented nutmeg grater.

The little boy, a pale child in a long pinafore and big white ears, hates his chosen instrument as much as I do, and so we meet on a level of mutual affliction. I loathe hearing him, and he hates his instrument; now, in the name of good common sense, why must he be offered up as a sacrifice.

His mother is a poor woman, and the tinkling cottage piano with plaited faded green front represents the chops and many other wholesome things she has not eaten, and what she allows the young lady in the third floor back, who takes her board out in piano lessons, is a serious sacrifice. Now, I ask what for?

Why is all the world playing an unnecessary piano?

Marriage has a fatal effect on music. For some occult reason as soon as a girl is married the piano—the grave of so much money and time—retires out of active life and swathed in "art draperies," burdened by vases, cabinet photographs and imitation "curios" serves less as a musical instrument than a warning. But no sooner are the next generation's legs long enough to dangle between the keyboard and the pedals than the echoes awaken to the same old false notes that serve no purpose unless an hour of daily martyrdom over a tear splashed keyboard is an excellent preparation for the trials of life.—Mrs. John Lane in London Outlook.

A Pathetic Incident.
There is a pitiful story told in the Bookman of Philip Bourke Marston, the blind English writer. One day a particularly good idea came to him, and he sat down to his typewriter with enthusiasm. He wrote rapidly for hours and had nearly finished the story when a friend came in. "Read that," said Marston proudly, "and tell me what you think of it." The friend stared at the happy author and then at the blank sheets of paper in his hand before he was able to understand the little tragedy. The ribbon had been taken from the typewriter, and Marston's toil was for nothing. He never had the heart to write that story again.

Power of Sulphuric Acid.

An instance of the great dissolving powers of sulphuric acid is furnished by an accident which occurred in the chemical factories at Blumhouse, Alsace. An operative was blown up into the air and fell into a trough filled about three feet deep with sulphuric acid, the temperature of which was found to be 91 degrees C. ten hours after the accident. The death of the man was only proved by the discovery of his caoutchouc respirator, muzzie, two porcelain buttons and other insoluble articles. Everything else had been chemically combined with the acid.—London Engineer

WITH NEWS FROM THE NORTH.

Steamship Zealandia Arrives at Seattle From Nome.

Seattle, Wash., July 10.—Bringing the first news out of Nome since the wires went down the middle of last month, the steamship Zealandia reached port from the north Sunday, en route to San Francisco. The Zealandia reports all of the steamers of the Nome fleet, concerning which there has been much speculation during the past week, are safe and that the delay in their reaching Seattle on their return voyage was occasioned by eight days of such severe weather as to make it impossible to handle cargoes on the lighters. The Zealandia brought $1,332,000 in gold from Nome.

HEAVY LOSS FROM FIRE.

Two Blocks of Business Houses and Residences Burned.

Goldfield, Nev., July 10.—Two blocks of Goldfield's business and residence section have been totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $200,000. The fire originated in the basement of Mrs. Wilson's millinery store and spread to R. Romer's brokerage office and automobile establishment, which blew up. A new $40,000 hotel being built by Boyer and others, lasted about twenty minutes. A light wind blowing away from the main street was all that saved the town from total destruction.

ISSUES FRAUD ORDER

POSTMASTER GENERAL CORTELYOU PUTS BAN ON ST. LOUIS BANKING FIRM.

BANKING FIRM.

BARRED FROM USE OF MAILS

FUNDS OF THE BANK ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN BORROWED BY ITS ORGANIZER.

Washington, July 10.—Postmaster General Cortelyou Sunday announced the issuance of a fraud order against the People's United States bank of St. Louis, Mo., its officers and agents and E. G. Lewis, a publisher, effective July 9. The action bars the company from the use of the mails, after an investigation by the postal authorities as to the details of the business of the institution.

The postmaster general's announcement says:

"It is understood the funds of the bank, which have not been borrowed by Mr. Lewis and his enterprises, amounting to about two-thirds of the total amount received, are deposited in banks and will be available towards reimbursement of stockholders, who number upwards of 65,000. It is the intention of the officers of the post-office department to co-operate with the secretary of state of Missouri in every possible way in the interests of investors and depositors."

The announcement of Mr. Cortelyou says that although in early articles in his magazine "Mr. Lewis represented that he would subscribe to the capital stock a dollar for every dollar subscribed by all others, so that he would own half of the capital stock, and that later he represented that he had pledged his entire fortune—every dollar he had—and his publishing business in this banking enterprise and that his subscriptions would exceed $1,000,000, the inspectors found that Mr. Lewis had not co-operated to the extent of a single dollar of his own money, although the bank had been in operation several months and had a paid up capital stock of $2,000,000."

Continuing, the statement says:

Lewis Admitted the Fact.

"The inspectors found that Mr. Lewis had made an admission to that effect to Bank Examiners Cook and Nichols on April 3, 1905. The inspectors and their office force in St. Louis made a careful checking of the subscription books, finding that on March 15, 1905, Mr. Lewis had received and held as payment for shares of stock in the bank $2,298,043.61 and had accounted to the bank in an amount not exceeding $2,204,994. This showed that every cent of the $2,000,000 capital stock, which had been paid in, was paid out of subscription money received by Mr. Lewis from the public and that none of his own money had been invested in the enterprise. This was found to be the fact, although Mr. Lewis had stated in writing to the inspectors that $495,750 of the $500,000 paid in at the original incorporation of the bank was his personal funds. Subsequently at the hearing before the assistant attorney general, Mr. Lewis admitted that that money was received by him from the people and was not his own. Although asked to do so at the hearing, Mr. Lewis failed to produce any evidence whatever that any of his personal funds had gone into this enterprise. Mr. Lewis stated at the hearing that the directors had never refused to make a loan he requested."

"The most important of the representations were that all funds of this bank would be loaned by a committee composed of three directors each from the five principal banks of St. Louis, etc."

"The report showed and Mr. Lewis admitted that hundreds of thousands of dollars were loaned to himself and his various enterprises, that no committee of fifteen had been established but that the loans had been made practically at Mr. Lewis' will."

HELD MOST OF THE STOCK.

E. G. Lewis Controlled Affairs of the St. Louis Bank.

St. Louis, July 10.—The People's United States bank was incorporated Nov. 14, 1904, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The capital stock was increased March 15, 1905, to $2,500,000, of which $2,000,000 was paid in. The original capital was divided into 10,000 shares, 9,915 of which were held by E. G. Lewis. The remaining 85 shares were shown to be held by seventeen others, each of whom held five shares.

The men chosen for the first board of directors were Edward G. Lewis, Frank J. Cabot, Augustine P. Coakley, Eugene W. Thompson and Guy A. Athogast.

E. G. Lewis began advertising the bank in February, 1904, in a publication he owned and controlled, and which he had been publishing in St. Louis at the time for about a year. This publication has continued to carry the advertisements of the bank since that time.

Early statements regarding the bank were filled with hope and promise, Lewis agreeing to put in $100,000 of his own money, and holding out roseate hopes to subscribers by statements that wealthy men were ready to take large blocks of the bank's stock, but that he preferred to have his subscribers take it in small lots.

STUDYING LAW.

The Lawyer's Office Not What It Once Was For Students.

Questions regarding the study of law were sent out recently to many lawyers of Illinois by the University of Illinois and elicited 1,000 replies. From these it appears that the days of studying law in a lawyer's office have passed away. Very few of the offices have any law students at all. Many of the ablest lawyers expressed the opinion that study in a law office is an absolute waste of energy. Nearly all the successful law firms declared that they had no time to devote to young men who desired to study law and that such young men were a nuisance in the office. The only young man they could use at all was one who had already passed his examination for the state bar and who was willing to work for nothing for a year or two in order to get the experience which comes from a large office. Out of the 1,000 replies only seven favored preparation for the bar in a lawyer's office.

Another striking result of this investigation is found in the answers to the questions as to the proper degree of preliminary education a student should have before entering the law school. A majority of the whole number urged that every one taking up the study of the law should complete a full college course. Of the others a majority were in favor of at least two years in college. There was a practical unanimity that the completion of a four years' high school course was the absolute minimum which was at all acceptable.

It was the general opinion that, having once entered the law school, the young man should give his entire time to the work of the school and not attempt to combine it with work in a lawyer's office or, indeed, work in any other place unless that was absolutely necessary to pay expenses. One lawyer declared that it was a poor school that could not keep a student busy all the time, and if a boy found himself in such a school he ought to leave it for one which could keep him busy.—Chicago News.

The Theological Labyrinth.

Stephen Essex, a Methodist minister, is the hero in "The Bishop's Niece." His state of mind after his early wanderings in the theological labyrinth is thus described by the author, George H. Peard:

"At twenty-seven Stephen Essex had not made a perfect recovery from the panic into which a premature discovery of the plan of salvation had thrown him. He had employed the remedies which are prescribed to heal our common moral illnesses, but their abundance and variety as well as his disposition to leave none untried had retarded his convalescence. His present condition was that of one who, though realizing that he has halted, almost miraculously, just inside the end of opportunity, is still fearful of doing something which will undo everything."

Knox and Scotland.

Scotland owes to Knox not its existing Presbyterian government—this was the subsequent work of Andrew Melville—but that which is the chief feature and main strength of Presbyterianism—viz, the full recognition (lacking in Episcopacy) of the Christian laity in the administration of the church, combined with that orderly subordination (which Congregationalism fails to secure) of the whole church to one representative and supreme authority. It is owing to Knox and his fellow reformers that the Scottish church avoids the danger both of hierarchy and of anarchy.—"John Knox," by Professor Henry Cowan.

A Bearded Freak.

One of the earliest of the American bearded freaks was Louis Jasper, who lived in southern Virginia at about the time of the close of the Revolutionary war. His beard was nine and a half feet long and correspondingly thick and heavy. He could take his mustache between his fingers and extend his arms to their full length, and still the ends of the mustache were over a foot beyond his finger tips.

Ordinance No. 171, According to

Decision, is Invalid and Council Exceeded its Rights

Attorney A. D. Polk, who appears on behalf of the defendant in the case of the state against C. A. Walker, was informed by Judge Spooner today that he had decided the case in favor of Mr. Walker and the Brainerd Telephone Exchange.

The suit was started some time ago and Mr. Walker was charged with violating ordinance No. 171, of this city, in that he charged more than the ordinance provided for telephone rental. The case was tried before Judge Warner and Mr. Walker was convicted.

An appeal was taken with the above results. Although the findings have not been filed it is understood that the ordinance will be declared invalid and that the council exceeded its authority when it attempted to fix the rates that the telephone company should charge for rental of the phones.

MORE DETAILS IN RE CUYUNA RANGE

J. L. Morrison, Well Known Mining Expert, Investigates Range and Gives His Views

WRITES IN A HOPEFUL VEIN
Many of the Conditions are of an Encouraging Nature, According to Mr. Morrison.

The Duluth Evening Herald devoted a full page, illustrated, to the Cuyuna range on Saturday evening, the article being written by John L. Morrison, a mining expert of Duluth, from which the following excerpts are taken:

"The Cuyuna iron range is the latest thing of its kind tributary to Duluth. It is just outside the 'side door' of the Zenith City. In a broad general way, as indicated by careful magnetic surveys with the dip needle it starts in the region around Kimberly, in Aitkin county. Running southwesterly it passes below Rossberg and Aitkin and then swings up around the westerly end of Cedar lake into Deerwood township, 46-28.

"Within a mile of the Northern Pacific railroad and the station of Deerwood, the line of magnetic attraction takes the conventional southwesterly direction around the lower end of Reno lake through Deerwood, Nokay and Oak Lawn townships right into the suburbs of Brainerd, in Crow Wing county.

"The strongest, most definite and unbroken line of magnetic attraction extends for a distance of about twenty miles along the south side of the Northern Pacific railroad, from a point near Cedar lake, through to Brainerd. This is called the south range.

"What is known as the north range lies between the railroad and the Mississippi river, around Rabbit and Little Rabbit lakes, in 47-28 and 48-29, within five or six miles of Deerwood. It is believed by some that the Father of Waters follows a contact between two formations in that region and that the chances are small for finding much of merit near the river on the northerly side.

"Out in Brainerd, the long-headed ones see a show for turning the Mississippi river waterpower into electricity and smelting the iron in electrical furnaces when they have been perfected. Some of the wise ones are making their money talk and getting a line of lands that, in a few years, will make them very rich or very poor.

"There is almost an utter absence of any surface indications. The south range is comparatively level. Where there is not soil, you will find lakes and swamps. There are no outcrops, either of rocks or iron ore. Much of the range passes through farms, more or less improved and tilled. The entire course of the belt that is assumed to bear iron ore is covered with an alluvial deposit, from 40 to 180 feet deep. This deposit embraces loamy soil, gravel, sand, clay, 'hardpan,' and here and there treacherously lying below, beds of quicksand.

"You can see nothing that would ever cause thought that iron ore existed. Roads are good, the air bracing, the sky bright and blue—when it does not rain—and the crops are a credit to the North Star state, but there are no visible signs of iron ore or an iron bearing formation. Drill holes have told some things in corroboration of the magnetic needle, and some that the needle cannot tell, but even at that, the few details that have been proven are not just like those of older and proven iron ranges.

"In a broad, general way, the formation is thought to resemble the Gogebic and Pexukee ranges. The ore bodies are venelike and more or less vertical, instead of being in bunches or beds, as on ranges better known to Lake Superior iron men.

"What is called the North Range, in the Rabbit lake region, possesses rough physical characteristics. Topographically it looks more like the Mesaba country, and, for that reason, possibly, many Duluth prospectors think it possesses greater probable merit.

"But, as stated, people whose word should be good give information that is very encouraging, to say the least. If money talks, it is carrying on quite a conversation on the Cuyuna range, and some very conservative purses are being opened. Their nerve, faith and efforts are worthy of a rich reward.

"But as to the pioneers who are risking their good hard cash on the new range; Pickands, Mather & Co., a very conservative iron firm of Cleveland, Ohio, have 400 acres under lease on a royalty of 15 cents a ton from the Oreland Mining company in sections 8 and 10, 45-29 and section 3, 46-29.

"On section 8, Cole & McDonald have drilled nine holes for the Cleveland firm, aggregating fully 3,000 feet. I am creditably informed by interested people that ore in quantity, averaging fully 55 per cent in iron, was encountered by the drills, over 100 feet in ore in places. The exact width of the ore bodies is not definitely stated, but evidently is satisfactory to those concerned.

"Results thus far have been so satisfactory to Pickands, Mather & Co., that a shaft will be sunk on the southwest forty of the southeast quarter of section 8. It will be 8x12 feet in the clear and fully 150 foot deep. Work, in charge of Captain Jarchow, has already been commenced. When I was there a few days ago a cooking camp was going up, the collar of the shaft had been constructed, workmen were framing the timbers for the shaft house and a part of the machinery was on the ground. Before many days there will be room and work for at least fifteen or twenty men.

"Pickands, Mather & Co. propose cross-cutting the formation at the bottom of the shaft, and do such other prospecting work as may prove desirable. They will take out several carloads of ore and treat it experimentally in furnaces to ascertain all its characteristics—its action in the furnace, cost and method of treatment, best use for the ore and kind of iron it will make.

"The money expended in all this preliminary work would mean a nice little fortune for the average man, but Pickands, Mather & Co. not only can afford the expense, but they take no chances and leave no question unsolved. Their entrance into the field proved a great surprise to many, and silenced quite a company of doubters and knockers. The mere fact that Mr. Adams induced the firm to take hold has brought him praise and respect from all well posted iron men.

"Con O'Brien of Brainerd is credited with having put $25,000 in properties right on the best of this belt. R. J. Hartley also has interests on the Brainerd end, together with Judge Holland, Dr. Hemstead, A. L. Hoffman and others.

"Already some rather startling financial results have accompanied the evolution of the Cuyuna iron range. At Brainerd M. K. Swartz only a few months ago sold forty acres adjoining the driving park for $5,000 cash.

"Some years ago, A. L. Hoffman owned 120 acres a little distance east of the Northern Pacific shops. He traded the land for a stock of groceries from which he netted but $200. The past spring the same property was sold as an iron possibility for $6,000 cash. Mr. Hoffman got into the deal by paying $600 for a tenth interest and was delighted to secure the opportunity.

"Within six miles of Brainerd, in 45-30, three 40-acre pieces sold for $75 an acre. One hundred and sixty acres brought $50 an acre. Another forty acres went for $3,250.

"Last fall some of these same lands could have been purchased for $15 an acre.

"A widow in Duluth, living on Twelfth avenue west, owns land in section 8, 45-29, adjoining the lands on which Pickands, Mather & Co. are sinking a shaft. It is creditably reported that the Cleveland company has offered her $250 cash, a royalty of 20 per cent and $30,000 cash as a bonus in case ore is struck. The poor woman is so excited and perplexed that she cannot sleep nights.

"Brainerd men bargained with a Mrs. Cameron for her farm at $5,000.

"Thus you have the results of my brief visit to and investigation of the Cuyuna iron range. As stated, there is not a single thing that can be seen on the surface indicative of iron, not even an outcrop of rock. With a dip needle you can go along the belt of magnetic attraction and get the same phenomena and information as Mr. Adams did years ago. If you drill and sink shafts as he and others have done and will do, you will pay heavily for your information thus secured, and you may find iron, but that is the only way that you can positively prove or disprove its existence in merchantable quantities.

"Iron certainly exists. Mr. Adams' word that he has proved the existence of several million tons can be taken without discount, for he strenuously avoids exaggeration and even any display of optimism.

"Ores found thus far have been high in phosphorus, not at all excessive in silica, without sulphur, titanium and other undesirable constituents. I think it safe to say that ores thus far found, if in quantity, should compare very favorably with those of Alabama and Georgia, and be available for about the same uses as those—taking it for granted, of course, that information given out by the Cuyuna range operators is correct."

AITKIN GIVEN BAD BEATING
Brainerd Gold Dust Team Beat the Aitkin Bunch by a Score of 10 to 1

Yesterday Afternoon
There was a game of ball at Athletic park yesterday afternoon between the Brainerd Gold Dust team and the Aitkin team and the latter was defeated to the tune of 10 to 1.

Victor Roderick was on the slab for the locals and performed like a Texas leaguer. E. H. Krelwitz and Spalding pitched for Aitkin and both were touched up rather freely. The one run that Aitkin did get was the result of a fluke throw which landed the ball over the fence.

The following was the score by innings:

LIGHT FASTER THAN SOUND.
Some Everyday Incidents That Go to Prove This Fact.

About a thousand yards from the window where I sit is a factory which blows its whistle every noon. The steam always comes from the whistle some little time before the sound is heard. Yesterday I counted three seconds between the time when the first steam was seen and when the sound of the whistle was heard. The whistle is heard when the weather is foggy or clear, hot or cold, windy or calm. It is sometimes louder than at other times, but it always takes three seconds to travel the 3,000 feet from the factory to my house.

We often hear also an echo of the whistle, which comes two seconds later than the first sound. This is the same sound coming by a roundabout journey 5,000 feet away. It travels first 1,000 feet to a hill beyond and then is sent back 4,000 feet to our house.

A few days ago I heard a band of musicians playing upon the street, and, although they were far distant from me, the high tones of the piccolo and the low tones of the bass horn reached me exactly together, showing that high and low tones travel at the same speed.

During a thunderstorm I noticed a flash of lightning and counted ten seconds before the sound of the thunder was heard. This showed me that the storm was about 10,000 feet (or about two miles) away. A little later, however, the time between the lightning and the thunder began to grow less, and the noise of the thunder became louder, which showed that the storm was getting nearer. Finally a dazzling flash of lightning was followed immediately by a deafening crash of thunder, and at the same time the shingles flew from a patch of roof on a barn near by. It had been struck by lightning and was soon in flames.—St. Nicholas.

DAVID MCCARTHY WAS DROWNED

Yesterday Afternoon While Bathing in the Mississippi River Near the Point

COMPANIONS TRY TO SAVE HIM
Current was too Swift and After He Made Desperate Struggle He Went Down

David McCarthy, a young man well known about the city, was drowned yesterday afternoon about 12:30 o'clock while bathing in the Mississippi river near the point, although he was one of the best of swimmers and two companions who were with him did all in their power to get him out.

Frank Ramsey, Ed King and McCarthy went down to the river shortly after noon and it was just 12:30 o'clock when they decided to go in bathing. McCarthy took off his clothes and jumped into the swift current and the other boys were also getting ready to jump in when it was noticed that McCarthy was struggling to keep himself above water. He gave the alarm as though he had a cramp and Ed King jumped in and succeeded in reaching him. At that time McCarthy was drowning and young King narrowly escaped being pulled under also. King swam to a jam of logs and tried to loosen one of them to push it out toward McCarthy but could not. All this time McCarthy was floating down the river and when some distance down King saw the last of him as he came up for the last time.

The alarm was given up town, but up to the present time the young man's body has not been found. McCarthy was about twenty-four years of age and is very well known in this city. He ran a restaurant on Fifth street for a long time but had been out of business for a time and returned from the lakes on circus day where he had been enjoying an outing.

The young man was a nephew of P. E. McCabe and his mother lives in Canada.

Every effort is being made to find the body, but the searchers are finding some difficulty on account of the high water. The river has been dynamited where the body was seen to go down for the last time and the bottom has been dragged for some distance.

David McCarthy was well liked among a circle of friends and they deeply mourn the untimely ending. He was of a quiet turn of mind, but genial and courteous to everyone.

THE APPOINTING POWER.
A Story of President Grant and an Obstinate Subordinate.

General Grant's generosity to his foes, his many private and official kindnesses to the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers, is an old tale, but it bears repetition in the form of an incident which Helen D. Longstreet gives in "Lee and Longstreet at High Tide."

The widow of a Confederate officer applied to the postoffice department to be appointed postmistress in a small southern town. As she heard nothing of her application, she went to Washington to press it. She was unable to move the authorities at the postoffice department and was about to go home in despair when a friend suggested that it might be worth while for her to see the president.

With much effort she summoned courage and appeared at the White House. The president received her in a most friendly manner and after hearing her story took her application and wrote a strong but brief indorsement on the back of it. She hurried in triumph to the postoffice department.

The official to whom she presented the application frowned and pondered over it for some time and then wrote under the president's indorsement, "This being a fourth class office, the president does not have the appointing power."

The application was handed back to her, and she went away in deep distress and was again preparing to return home when another friend told her by all means to take the paper back to the president, so that he might see how his indorsement had been received. When the president read it he wrote under the last indorsement, "While the president does not have the appointing power in this office, he has the appointment of the postmaster general," and, summoning his secretary, President Grant directed him to accompany the lady to the department and in person deliver her application to the postmaster general.

She received the commission before she left the office.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

ANOTHER GOOD VAUDEVILLE BILL

It would seem as though it were hard to get Brainerd people into the habit of enjoying vaudeville, although it must be admitted that the better class of theatre patrons are beginning to take hold of this popular form of amusement here and it is thought within a week a lot of others who have not the habit will fall in line. The patrons are commencing to realize that each succeeding week the bill is better than it was the week before. The bill on Saturday night was excellent and was enjoyed by all.

Next Saturday, matinee and evening, the bill will be better than ever and will include the following highclass specialty artists: The Evans Trio presenting a one act comedy sketch, "The Passing Show;" The Vanderkoores, in their original act entitled "The Magician and the Yip;" H. B. Riggs, vocalist and comedian; Sig. Franz, sensational uicelylist; Colton and Darrow, refined comedians;

Miss Ethel Jackson, singing and dancing soubrette, and of course, Edison's wonderful Kinetoscope with the latest moving pictures.

The water in the Mississippi has gone down an inch during the past twenty-four hours and it is now thought the danger point is passed so far as Brainerd is concerned. ## The Misery of Piles

Thousands know it and thousands daily submit, through their ignorance, to the torture of the knife.

They are ignorant of the fact that there is an internal remedy that will positively and painlessly cure.

Dr. Perrin's Pile Specific The Internal Remedy

strikes at the prime causes of piles—indigestion, congestion of the liver and constipation. These causes are removed and removed for good. Get a bottle today and see how well it proves the truth of this statement.

For dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness, catarrh of the stomach and kindred ailments it is the greatest remedy that has ever yet benefited mankind.

When these troubles are taken care of and cured, Piles will be a thing of the past.

Dr. Perrin Medical Co., Helena, Mont.

WANTS KELLY TO RESIGN.

Governor of Kansas Desires to Have State Treasurer Quit.

Topeka, Kan., July 10.—Another conference of attorneys was held Sunday to discuss the situation arising from the loss of the state funds in the defunct First National bank. It is announced that Governor Hoch will demand the resignation of State Treasurer T. T. Kelly on the ground of improper conduct in office, and that Kelly will resist the demand. The matter will probably have to be settled in the courts.

FIRE ALARMS BY WIRELESS.

Features of Device Invented by Dr. De Forest and B. C. Haldeman.

A wireless fire alarm system is the newest invention of Dr. Lee De Forest, vice president and scientific director of a wireless telegraph company, and B. C. Haldeman, former city electrician and general superintendent in the west for the company, says the Kansas City Times. They are building the apparatus jointly—some of it in St. Louis and some at Kansas City under the direction of Mr. Haldeman. It is to be given its first test in Kansas City during the firemen's convention next August.

Dr. De Forest was at the Midland hotel in Kansas City recently and told something of what the new system is and what it is expected to accomplish. He asserts that it will be 50 per cent cheaper than any system now in use.

"The installation of the system will equip any building with automatic fire alarm signals," he said. "After the manner of the automatic sprinkling system our apparatus will be susceptible to a certain degree of heat. In case of fire the signal will be carried by wire up to the roof of the building and communicated to a flagstaff arrangement. Thence it will be carried through the air, a wireless message, to fire headquarters, where a receiver will be installed, in tune with the transmitter on top of the building.

"A bell will ring first and ring repeatedly to attract the operator's attention in case he hasn't the receiver to his ear. When he listens he will receive the message in a simple signal code of dots and dashes which will tell him the exact location of the fire. The operator will not have to be familiar with the Morse alphabet. A signal code can be used so simple in character that any one can take it. Street boxes can be used in the same manner as far as receiving the alarm is concerned. The message can be transmitted by pulling down a hook or by pushing a button.

"The wireless fire alarm system is Mr. Haldeman's idea. We are perfecting it together in a joint patent. I think it will develop into one of the most important branches of wireless telegraphy."

Dr. De Forest is making experiments with wireless telephone apparatus.

KNUDSON'S PATRIOTISM.

Norwegian Will Have His Breast Tattooed With National Seal.

Knud Lawrence Knudson, better known as Larry, the wealthiest office building chief janitor of Chicago, will have his breast tattooed with the seal of Norway and the national colors of independence of the country, says the Chicago Post. This is in honor of the final separation of Norway from Sweden, a step which Mr. Knudson has advocated for the last thirty years.

He was at one time a member of the royal navy, has met King Oscar and had many strange adventures in foreign lands. His arms are already tattooed with patriotic Norwegian symbols.

Mr. Knudson said the other morning: "More than half a million Norwegians in the United States are preparing for a general celebration of Norway's final independence. In New York, Boston, Washington, here (Chicago), Omaha, Denver, Minneapolis and other cities on some certain day to be yet determined they will meet and with sagas and cheers celebrate what ought to have happened fifty years ago. Skoll!

"Up to yesterday wherever a Norwegian was he was a Swede. In all the consular service except in one little town in France if you looked for a Norwegian you found a Swede. It got so bad if you turned any corner in Christianity trying to find a Norwegian every scratch you made brought forth a Swede. I have got out of bed nights and walked around to keep cool, it made me so mad to think of it.

"In all history, all mythology, all the doings of things, Norway has always led, but Sweden got the honor. Now we are going to change it, and after this when you dig for a Norwegian you'll find one and not a Swede. Yes, I'm going to have myself tattooed to mark this event forever. I was once tattooed in Japan and again in the Samoan islands to show my pride of Norway. This, though, is the great joy of my life, that Norway is now Norway. For this I am going to have Norway's insignia on me. There are many expert tattooers in Chicago, but I know how to do it myself. It will require about seven weeks' work."

Prohibited Postal Cards.

Postal cards with certain pictures on them have recently been prohibited in several countries, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. In Russia all cards bearing the portrait of Tolstol are confiscated and destroyed; in Turkey no card bearing the name of Allah or of Mohammed, the photograph of the caaba or the portrait of a Mohammedan woman is allowed to go through the mail; in Portugal the postal officials have been instructed to destroy any card which is designed to cast ridicule on the king on account of his corpulence.

When You're Swelterin' In Summer. When you're swelterin' in summer, when you hear the thunder roll. Just think about the fellers that are freezin' at the pole!

Say this from dark to dawn: "Hope's a joy that's never gone; Just well melt in summer as freeze up later on!"

No use worryin' 'bout weather; It's a-doin' of its best. Though it sets the sky a-blazin' from the wide east to the west. Say this in dark an' dawn: "Weather comes, an' weather's gone; Just well melt in summer as freeze up later on!"

SINKING OF THE SUVAROFF.

Japanese Captain Tells How He Sank Rojstvensky's Flagship.

The captain of the Japanese destroyer Murasag, in describing how he attacked and sank Rojstvensky's flagship, the Suvaroff, in the battle of the Sea of Japan, spoke as follows, says a special cable dispatch from Sasebo to the New York American:

"At daybreak on May 27 we received warning that the enemy's fleet was approaching. Our squadron opened fire from a concealed spot which the Russian guns couldn't reach. We merely threatened, and the Russians unsuspectingly returned our fire. My destroyer was outside the battle circle watching the movements of the Russians, whose firing was lamentable. Many of their shells passed over the Japanese fleet and dropped in the water astern. One, however, hit us astern, and at the same time an order came for us to attack the enemy's flagship.

"Although our boat was damaged, we made up our minds to face death bravely for the sake of the emperor and our country. So, with engines going at full speed, we dashed through the heavy seas toward the enemy's ship to within 100 meters. When we fired our first torpedo, a fish shaped eighteen inch Whitehead, we saw it strike the Suvaroff astern and soon realized that it had smashed her steering gear.

"From this moment the whole of the shell fire of the Japanese fleet was concentrated upon Rojstvensky's flagship. Her funnels were shot into tinsel and her masts, with one exception, collapsed with a terrible noise. The officers and sailors crowded around the one remaining mast as though demented. It was really an awful sight even for me, who in war have witnessed many terrible incidents.

"Then we fired a second torpedo. It struck the engine compartment and the flagship immediately listed nearly to the water's edge.

"Meanwhile the cannonading of the whole Japanese fleet, as if controlled by one automatic switch, was concentrated upon the crowd of officers and men standing beneath the solitary mast.

"Within a few seconds they were scattered into fragments, like dry leaves before the wind. Almost simultaneously the flagship reared up and plunged to the bottom of the sea. Then we retired from the battle circle."

GERMS IN DOCTORS' BEARDS

Why a Coroner Looks For Baldheaded and Clean Shaven Physicians.

"I find that people are believing the story about doctors carrying disease germs in their beards," said Dr. O. H. Parker, a deputy coroner, the other morning to a reporter of the Kansas City Star. "I think it is policy for me to sacrifice my whiskers. They must go. Too many of my patients mention the connection between germs and whiskers. I see they take it seriously. One woman told of a doctor who, she said, carried typhoid germs in his beard. Of course it is ridiculous. Germs would be no more likely to dwell in the beard than in the mustache, eyebrows or the hair.

"The doctors are getting a dose of their own medicine. The doctor of tomorrow may be baldheaded and clean shaven, slinking about in a double disinfected asbestos bathing suit and sprinkling himself every few minutes with chloride of lime and carbolic acid. As the fairy tales used to say, 'They have pronounced their own fate.'"

Badges For Clergymen Advocated.

Not infrequently we read of an accident or calamity of some kind in a great city, where a Roman Catholic priest appears on the scene and administers comfort to the stricken or dying. It is seldom that we read of a Protestant minister in similar circumstances, says the Church Economist. A priest will be easily recognized and readily admitted to an injured man. A minister is not so easily recognized. Some may wear a cut of clothing that will confirm their claims to be clergymen, but others do not. Why should not Protestant ministers who wish to improve every opportunity for doing good supply themselves with badges, which they can always wear, though concealed, but which they can display when the emergency arises, thus securing access to the center of a crowd where lies a prostrate man, or to a burning building where the average man is debarred? There would need to be nothing on the badge except the words, "Clergyman, New York."

Bouquets of Thornless Roses.

Contrary to poetic fancy, the roses carried by maids and matrons of society this season are without even the suspicion of a thorn, says the New York Press. Not that they are a peculiar variety, for when they come from the parent stem they are in condition to wound the fingers as of old. But under the new method the blooms alone are used, the stems being discarded. The new bouquets, if they may be called such, are shaped something like a fan and are flat at the back. The flowers are fastened on a frame which is lined with silk, so that they may be held against the most delicate of frocks. The bouquet originated in London and so pleased Queen Alexandra that she permitted it to be named after her.

Fad For Engagement Rings.

The postoffice inspectors are considering the case of a young woman out in Nebraska who has been making a specialty of collecting engagement rings. She has corresponded with hundreds of men through matrimonial bureaus and other agencies, becoming engaged to them liberally. She has remarkable success in bringing the case up to the ring stage, but stops there.

REQUESTS A WITHDRAWAL.

Mr. Price Asks Secretary Wilson to Retract Statements.

Washington, July 10.—Theodore H. Price of New York arrived in Washington Sunday and through his attorney requested Secretary Wilson to withdraw what Mr. Price characterized as the "unjust, offensive and unsustained charges and implications" contained in the report made public Saturday in connection with the removal of Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., the assistant statistician of the department of agriculture.

The secretary has Mr. Price's request under consideration. Meanwhile Mr. Price secured from Richard Cheatham a signed statement in which Mr. Cheatham details the operations of a federal secret service agent and himself in obtaining evidence in New York in regard to the case and in which Mr. Cheatham says neither he nor the secret service agent found any evidence that would implicate Mr. Price in the affair, and Mr. Cheatham says he was very much surprised to see the prominence accorded the name of Mr. Price in the report given out by Secretary Wilson, as he did not know of any evidence having been presented or secured by any one that would authorize the connection of Mr. Price with the case.

Secretary Wilson told Mr. Price, as he had William M. Ivins, his attorney, earlier in the day that he had no statement to make along the lines requested. He did not feel called on to make an explanation or withdraw anything that had been given out.

THE WORST ABOUT OVER.

Mississippi River at Minneapolis Stops in Its Upward Course.

Minneapolis, July 10.—After a rise lasting three weeks the Mississippi river Sunday for the first time stopped its upward course. Lumbermen claim that there is no present danger of a log jam on the Mississippi and unless there are heavy rains within the next few days they think the worst is over. Flat dwellers on the river bank have left their homes to seek places of safety.
